Helpful Info Q & A

Q Is it possible for any passenger to put baggage behind the back row seats?

A In cars where it is possible to reserve a seat with an oversized baggage area, the space behind the back row seats is for the exclusive use of passengers who have reserved such seats.

Q Can I reserve a seat with an oversized baggage area even if I don't have oversized baggage?

A Yes, you can. In certain cases, for example if your baggage is too heavy to lift onto the overhead baggage rack, you can reserve a seat with an oversized baggage area. However, you should consider reserving another kind of seat since only a limited number of seats with a reserved oversized baggage area are available, in addition to which it may not be possible to recline a seat with oversized baggage stored behind it.

Starting from July 1, 2025, the "Oversized baggage compartment" near the washbasin on the deck will be made available as a baggage storage area that can be used without a reservation on a trial basis until further notice. During this trial period, you will not be able to reserve seats with an oversized baggage compartment.
